Stopping distance = reaction distance + braking distance

Reaction: the car keeps moving while the driver reacts (doubles if speed doubles)

Braking: four times bigger if speed doubles!

Seat belt (1st law)
stops your body moving forward

Airbag (2nd law)
stops you more slowly: less force

Good tyres (friction)
more grip, shorter braking

Safety distance
keep away from the car in front